How secure is it?

We understand that we are dealing with sensitive financial information and that's why we take data protection and security so seriously. MyWealth uses data encryption and other security measures to ensure that your data is protected at all times. We don't store any of your bank or credit card account usernames or passwords. In fact, you simply see a read-only view of your banking or credit card accounts. No transactions take place through MyWealth; all that is still safely handled by your bank or credit card supplier. Using MyWealth is as safe as using your online banking service.

Here's the technical bit...

All information is securely transmitted using SSL standard encryption, which creates an encrypted connection between your browser and the servers. Your information remains encrypted at all times. The servers are protected with firewalls which prevent unauthorised access to the servers and are monitored 24/7. Transaction information is stored on servers located in a secure facility that is protected by the very best in physical security, electronic security and internal security policies to ensure that your details remain totally secure. Security personnel monitor the system 7 days a week, 24 hours a day and access requires multiple levels of authentication, including biometrics (fingerprint/eye scans) procedures.

How private is my data?

All of your data belongs to you and sensitive account information is completely private so that only you can see it. We don't store banking user names, passwords or any other account information. Your privacy and trust are our highest priority and so we put extensive safeguards in place to protect your identity, privacy and financial data at all times. When you add your own information on to MyWealth you can decide who it is shared with using MyWealth's privacy controls.

Why does MyWealth need the usernames and passwords for my bank and credit card accounts?

You give us this information just once and we use it to establish a secure connection to your Bank or Credit Card Company so that we can retrieve your transaction or statement information securely. Once the connection is made, we do not store your banking or credit card usernames or passwords in MyWealth.

3 BANK ACCOUNTS

How do I add a bank or credit card account?

Within the Statements page click on the Add button and confirm your consent for MyWealth to access your accounts. Enter the name of your bank or credit card supplier in the Search box and click on the search button. MyWealth will return those banks or credit card suppliers matching the name you have entered. Simply select the relevant entry from the list and click the 'Next' button. You will then be asked to input your online banking credentials. Your account will be added, and you will be able to monitor all transactions and up to date balances.

What happens if I am unable to find my bank or credit card supplier in the list?

Our banking integration partner is working to increase the number of providers currently being supported. If you are unable to locate a provider in the options available, firstly try inputting any variation of the bank's name i.e. RBS, Royal Bank of Scotland. If you are still unable to locate the provider, please contact Howard Wealth Management with the details and we will request that the provider is added to the service.

I receive an error message when attempting to add an account what do I need to do?

There may be several reasons why we are unable to link to your online banking site to set up your account:

- The online banking credentials input to MyWealth do not match those held by the bank's site. Please re-check your login details by accessing your online banking site and then, correcting the details, input them to MyWealth.
- MyWealth is unable to update your account due to technical difficulties at the banking site. Please login to your online banking site directly and verify that you can view all of your account information. Then try to update your account again through MyWealth. If you continue to receive this error, the problem will be escalated to the technical team at the banking aggregation technology provider and we will notify you when this is corrected.
- MyWealth could not update your account because the account has been locked. This usually results from too many unsuccessful login attempts in a short period of time. Please access your online banking site or contact their customer support to resolve this issue. Once you have done so, please update your account credentials within MyWealth in case they are changed.

Why are there transactions missing from my statement?

If you have made any transactions today or are expecting more transactions than are visible, refresh your account by clicking on the 'Refresh' button.

I have changed my online banking credentials, how do I update MyWealth?

MyWealth will be notified that your online login credentials have changed when it tries to update your account. In this instance a 'warning icon' will appear and by clicking on this you will be able to re-enter your updated details. You can also change your Online Banking Credentials via the Manage Accounts section by clicking on the cog icon. Please note this does not change the actual credentials used by your bank, only the way in which MyWealth connects to it.
